I INTRODUCTION

The Elections Finances Act (hereinafter referred to as "the Act") was proclaimed in force on 15 November 1980. Among the objectives of the legislation were the introduction of the tax credit system for contributions to registered political parties and candidates, provisions for financial disclosure and limitations on expenditures for the purpose of advertising during an election period. The Act also established the Elections Commission as the agency responsible for administration and enforcement of the Act.

During the period covered by the First Annual Report of the Elections Commission (15 November 1980 to 31 December 1981), registration of political parties and candidates, examination of annual statements and returns, publication of guidelines for chief financial officers and the 1981 provincial general election were the focus of Commission activities. However, while the provincial general election was held on 17 November 1981, candidates' statements and returns were not required to be filed until 17 February 1982. The receipt and examination of these documents, together with the annual statements and returns of political parties, have formed the basis of much of the Commission's activities in 1982. Another major initiative by the Commission during this period has been a comprehensive review of election finances administration and legislation which was tested for the first time in 1981.

II COMPOSITION OF THE ELECTIONS COMMISSION

The composition of the Elections Commission is set by subsection 3(2) of the Act which provides:

Subsection 3(2) "The commission shall be composed of

(a) the Chief Electoral Officer;

(b) a person appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council who shall be chairman of the commission; and

(c) 2 persons, representing each registered political party that is represented by 4 or more members in the assembly, appointed by the member of the assembly recognized by the Speaker of the Assembly as the leader in the assembly of that registered political party."

Since the publication of the First Annual Report, there have been two changes in the membership of the Commission. Commission member Lorna Leader resigned from the Commission on 1 March 1982 and on 14 May 1982 Commission member Harry L. Rachlis also resigned. Both Ms. Leader and Mr. Rachlis had served with the Commission since its establishment in 1980. The contributions of these two original Commission members are well known and appreciated by the Chairman and members of the Commission.

Also in May 1982, two new members were appointed. Marva-J. Smith and John Walsh joined the Commission effective 25 May 1982 and they attended their first meeting on 26 May 1982.

During the period covered by this report, the Commission has met a total of six times as follows:

Table 1

Meeting #	Date
15	25 March 1982
16	26 May 1982
17	2 September 1982
18	4 November 1982
19	25 November 1982
20	2 December 1982

III POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE COMMISSION

The powers and duties of the Commission are outlined in Section 9 of the Act:

Section 9 "In addition to any other duties, functions, powers and authority imposed or given to the commission under this or any other Act of the Legislature, the commission

(a) shall assist political parties and candidates and their chief financial officers in preparing statements and returns required under this Act and otherwise in complying with provisions of this Act;

(b) shall examine all statements and returns filed with the commission;

(c) may prescribe forms and the contents thereof for use under this Act and provide for their use;

(d) may prepare, print and distribute forms for use under this Act; and

(e) may prepare and distribute guidelines which it considers necessary for the guidance of candidates, chief financial officers and political parties and their officers and auditors."

The Commission is also invested with the authority to initiate prosecutions for offences under both The Elections Finances Act and The Elections Act. Section 52 of The Elections Finances Act and Section 168 of The Elections Act are identical in content as they refer to their respective Acts and state:

> "No person other than the commission shall institute proceedings to prosecute anyone for an offence under this Act."

Finally, the Commission is charged under Section 10 of The Elections Finances Act to prepare annually a report upon its affairs and activities and send a copy to the Speaker for tabling in the Assembly.

IV POLITICAL PARTIES

1. Registrations

Registration of a political party is provided for in Section 14 of the Act. To 31 December 1982, 5 political parties have been registered. The names of these political parties, their respective dates of registration and assigned registration numbers follow:

Table 2

Political Party	Date of Registration	Registration Number
The Manitoba New Democratic Party	17 November 1980	P-8001
The Progressive Conservative Party of Manitoba	25 November 1980	P-8002
The Liberal Party in Manitoba	12 December 1980	P-8003
The Manitoba Progressive Party	24 April 1981	P-8104
The Communist Party of Canada, Manitoba Committee	10 September 1981	P-8105

During 1982 the Commission responded to several enquiries respecting registration of political parties. Similarly, during the period covered by the First Annual Report, several groups requested and received the information and documents necessary to make application for registration of a political party pursuant to subsection 14(c) of the Act. Each group has been advised that as part of the application they are required to submit a petition for registration signed by not fewer than 2,500 persons who were eligible voters during the most recent provincial general election. To date, the only group to have submitted a petition for registration has been the Communist Party of Canada, Manitoba Committee which was duly registered in 1981. All other petitions for registration are outstanding.

2. Annual Statements and Returns for Contributions

Political parties, whether registered or not, are required by the Act to submit annually an audited statement and a return for contributions. These statements and returns are required to be filed with the Commission within three months after the end of the fiscal year of the respective political party. The audited statement submitted by each political party covers their respective fiscal year as set out below. The Manitoba Progressive Party was founded during the 1981 fiscal year and, as such, their statement covers only that portion of the year which followed their formation. Copies of the annual audited statement submitted by each political party are available for public inspection at the office of the Commission.

Table 3

Political Party	Fiscal Year End
The Manitoba New Democratic Party	31 December 1981
The Progressive Conservative Party of Manitoba	31 August 1981
The Liberal Party in Manitoba	31 December 1981
The Manitoba Progressive Party	31 December 1981
The Communist Party of Canada, Manitoba Committee	31 December 1981

A summary of the returns for contributions filed by each political party is also reproduced here as Appendix A. Caution must be exercised when comparing the statements and returns of political parties because of their use of different year ends, different accounting methods and different procedures of handling income and expenses. To facilitate comparisons in the future, the Commission has recommended to the Government that political party fiscal year ends be standardized.

Section 35 of the Act further requires that every chief financial officer of a political party or candidate shall file with the Commission as a part of the return for contributions, the name and address of each person or trade union whose aggregate contributions during the period covered equal or exceed $250.00. Lists disclosing the names, addresses and amounts donated by such contributors have been filed with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

3. Returns for Advertising Expenditures

Where an election takes place during the period covered by an annual statement filed by a political party, the chief financial officer of that party is also required to file a return setting out the details of all expenditures made by or on behalf of the political party for the purpose of advertising by publication, broadcast or display during the election period. The election period for the 17 November 1981 provincial general election was 13 October 1981 to 17 November 1981.

Clause 44(1) of the Act sets out the formula by which the respective limits on advertising expenditures by or on behalf of a political party are calculated. In the case of a political party in relation to a general election, the limitation on advertising expenditures is determined by multiplying $.40 by the number of names appearing on all the revised voters' lists in that general election for all electoral divisions in which that political party has endorsed candidates. Appendix B identifies each of the political parties in the 1981 provincial general election, their respective limits on advertising expenditures and the amounts reported as spent in each of the three categories of advertising. Further detail respecting the nature of advertising expenditures by each political party is available at the office of the Commission. Based on the returns submitted by the respective chief financial officers, all political parties have stayed within the allowable limits for advertising expenditures for the 1981 provincial general election.

A summary of total advertising expenditures as reported by political parties and by their respective endorsed candidates is attached as Appendix C.

V CANDIDATES

1. Registrations

In the 17 November 1981 provincial general election, one hundred and ninety-five candidates were nominated in accordance with the provisions of The Elections Act. Of the 195 candidates, 191 were endorsed as candidates of one of the five registered political parties and 4 candidates were designated as Independent. Of this total, 119 candidates made application in the prescribed form and were accordingly registered under The Elections Finances Act. Once registered, candidates were able to issue receipts for income tax purposes for contributions received. Registered political parties were required to prepare and print their own receipts in a prescribed form. The Commission provided registered candidates with tax receipts upon request.

2. Statements and Returns

Chief financial officers of all candidates, whether registered or not, are required to file a financial statement for the campaign period with the Commission. Statements for the campaign period must also be accompanied by a return for contributions covering the same period. The campaign period for the 1981 provincial general election began on 13 October 1981 (issue of the writs of election) and concluded on 17 January 1982 (two months after polling day).

All chief financial officers are also required to file a return for advertising expenditures setting out the details of all expenditures made by or on behalf of the candidate for advertising for the election by publication, broadcast or display during the election period. The election period covered by the return is of shorter duration than the campaign period covered in the statement and return for contributions. The election period for the 1981 provincial general election commenced with the issue of the writs of election on 13 October 1981 and ended on polling day 17 November 1981.

The deadline for filing the required statements and returns for the 1981 provincial general election was 17 February 1982, one month after the conclusion of the campaign period. Once received, all statements and returns were reviewed by Commission staff. In the vast majority of instances, further correspondence was necessary in order to confirm some items reported in the statement and returns and to clarify discrepancies with respect to others. However, given that candidates' statements and returns are not required to be audited submissions and, considering that the 1981 election represented the first time the provisions of The Elections Finances Act were in place, statements and returns were generally well prepared. Among the most common errors were incorrect dates given for the periods covered, some confusion respecting the definition of "advertising" expenditures, some uncertainty of the proper method of declaring transfers to and from political parties and constituency associations and the inevitable errors in calculation.

The Guide to Official Agents/Chief Financial Officers, periodic guidelines distributed through the offices of returning officers, meetings, correspondence and telephone conversations, the extension of filing deadlines where warranted, and the co-operative efforts of chief financial officers all combined to ensure that every required statement and return was filed with the office of the Commission.

A summary of the items disclosed in the statements and returns as filed on behalf of each candidate is attached as Appendix D. This appendix outlines the reported financial activity of each candidate's campaign on an electoral division by electoral division basis, identifying total contributions, transfers to and from the candidate, general expenditures and expenditures for media advertising. A list of chief financial officers together with their respective candidate and electoral division is also provided as Appendix E.

The actual statements and returns filed by chief financial officers are maintained at the office of the Commission and are available for public inspection. These documents provide further detail on some of the items reported in the summary contained in this report. For example, the return for contributions categorizes contributions as those aggregate contributions which equal or exceed $250.00, contributions the aggregate value of which is $25.00 or more but less than $250.00,and those contributions which are less than $25.00. As is the case with the return for contributions filed by the chief financial officers of political parties, candidates' returns must also provide the name, address and amount of contribution made by each person or trade union whose aggregate contributions during the period covered equal or exceed $250.00.

The return for advertising expenditures also provides the sub-totals expended for the purpose of advertising during the election period for each of, advertising by publication, by broadcast and by display. Clause 44(1)(c) of the Act also sets out the formula by which the advertising limit for each candidate is established. In the case of a candidate in a general election, the total expenses for advertising incurred by or on behalf of the candidate shall not exceed an aggregate amount determined by multiplying $.25 by the number of names on the revised voters' list for that electoral divison.

Several of the returns for advertising expenditures filed for the 1981 provincial general election indicated apparent advertising overexpenditures culminating in six instances with the initiation of prosecutions.

3. Initiation of Prosecutions

Fourteen of the 195 returns for advertising expenditures filed by chief financial officers indicated apparent advertising expenditures in excess of the limits constructed with reference to clause 44(1)(c) of the Act. In each instance, the respective chief financial officer was requested to provide further information and documentation in order to clarify the nature of the expenses incurred. Following examination of this additional information, it appeared that advertising expenditures had exceeded the legal limits in six instances. On 14 May 1982, the Commission referred the details to legal counsel and on 26 May 1982, counsel was instructed to proceed with prosecutions. On 28 May 1982, Informations were sworn at Provincial Judges' Court in Winnipeg against six chief financial officers.

Preliminary motions to quash the Informations as having been sworn outside the six months limitation period for summary conviction offences, were launched in Brandon on behalf of four of the accused. Pending the outcome of the 12 July 1982 hearing in Provincial Judges' Court (Brandon) on the motions to quash, the outstanding charges in Dauphin and Flin Flon were remanded. On 23 August 1982, Judge Mykle held in Provincial Judges' Court (Brandon) that the Informations before the court should be quashed as having been sworn outside the limitation period allowed by law. At its meeting of 2 September 1982, the Commission determined not to appeal the decision of Judge Mykle and further advised counsel to stay the remaining prosecutions commenced in Dauphin and Flin Flon.

Notwithstanding the decision in Provincial Judges' Court (Brandon), the Commission's decision to prosecute served to advise all concerned that under similar circumstances the Commission may prosecute in future. This episode also pointed out an apparent difficulty in the legislation and the need for extension of the deadlines for initiation of prosecutions. In light of the reasoning of the decision in Brandon, the Commission must launch prosecutions within six months of an offence having occurred. However, given that political parties are not required to file separate returns for the election or campaign period and that they may establish their own year end for the filing of statements and returns, parties may not be required to file necessary information with the Commission until well after the six month period. For example, where a political party has an August year end and an election occurs in November, the statements and returns are required by law to be filed the following November, one year after the election. This and other concerns were considered by the Commission in a review of the legislation and administration following the 1981 election.

VI REVIEW OF THE ELECTIONS FINANCES ACT

In response to a memorandum dated 19 August 1982 from the Attorney-General, the Commission agreed to provide the Attorney-General with its comments concerning revision of The Elections Finances Act.

In addition to research to be undertaken by the staff, the Commission instructed the secretary to write to the chief financial officer of each of the five registered political parties as well as the chief financial officer of each candidate, inviting their comments on the legislation and its administration. The Commission was pleased to receive the comments of Ms. Lorna Leader, chief financial officer of the Manitoba

New Democratic Party, Mr. John McFarlane, chief financial officer of the Progressive Conservative Party of Manitoba and, Mr. Harvey Zimmerman, chief financial officer of the Liberal Party in Manitoba. In addition, the Commission welcomed submissions by several candidates' chief financial officers.

The Commission has prepared a draft report entitled "The Elections Finances Act: An Administrative Review and Recommendations." A copy of this report has been transmitted to the Attorney-General for his consideration.

VII MANITOBA TAX CREDIT PROGRAM

Proclamation of The Elections Finances Act was accompanied by changes to The Income Tax Act (Manitoba) which implemented the tax credit program for contributions to registered political parties and registered candidates.

The table below* indicates the total value of such tax credits as known to date:

Table 4

	1980 Taxation Year ($)	1981 Taxation Year ($)
Credits Claimed on Individual Returns	118,130	636,000
Credits Claimed on Corporation Returns	7,893	46,500

*The figures given above -- particularly with respect to the 1981 taxation year -- are subject to some revisions due to late returns and re-assessments. The Commission acknowledges the assistance of the Manitoba Department of Finance for these figures.

VIII PUBLIC INFORMATION

All statements and returns filed with the Commission and all registers and records maintained by the Commission are public information and open to inspection. The office of the Elections Commission is located in Room 249 of the Legislative Building, Winnipeg, Manitoba, R3C 0V8.

In addition to the statements and returns required to be filed and referred to in this report, the Commission maintains the following registers and records as directed by Section 13 of the Act:

(a) a record of political parties and a register of registered political parties;
(b) a record of candidates for each by-election and for each general election and a register of registered candidates for each by-election and for each general election;
(c) records of the chief financial officers of political parties and candidates; and
(d) records of deputies authorized to act for chief financial officers of political parties or candidates.

IX SUMMARY

The major undertakings of the Commission for the year ending 31 December 1982 were the examination of annual statements and returns for contributions and for advertising expenditures of political parties, similar efforts respecting candidates' statements and returns and initiation of a review of the Act and its administration.

The Commission wishes to acknowledge the sincere efforts of all the representatives of registered political parties and candidates and the two hundred hard working chief financial officers of candidates and political parties who through their action to date have demonstrated their commitment to both the intent and statutory requirements of the legislation. The Commission considers the working relationship it shares with these persons as crucial to the satisfactory implementation of the Act. In addition the Commission wishes to express its appreciation to the interested citizens of Manitoba who have telephoned, written or visited the office of the Commission.

All of which is respectfully submitted and dated the 26th day of January 1983.
